

Anti-theft and anti-forget for Credit Cards

Did you ever forget your Credit or Bank Card after payment? You stand at the point of sale, will pay for fancy apparel, music, books or the nice design products, you fund and slip the card over the table.

While you put the payment slip into the bag, other customers are pushing from behind, your friend is calling on the mobile and at home you notice, that you have seen the card the last time, two hours before. You forgot it or it has been stolen.

This is, where our little patented technical masterpiece helps to take care. As soon as the card will be taken out of the stainless steel holder, a little sensor inside notices that. After 30 seconds you will here the first audio alarm, after that all 10 seconds, than all 5 seconds. When you stick the card in the holder again, the alarm stops.

If you like, you can also disable the alarm.

The nice looking and designed security product can be engraved or imprinted for promotional or premium purposes. The box can be made in customer design.
