

The Fishpool for the Computer - now available for your Desktop!

One of the most senseful products for stress release is the USB-Aquarium. Instead of renovating complete rooms, making day long meetings and have bunch of work - you are now on the winner street.

Get the USB-Aquarium out of the giftbox, add some water, put the two tiny plastic fishes inside, close the cover (they may spring out...) and connect to your computers USB-Interface.

A soft blue light will cover the scene, which reminds to a coral reef and the two fishes swim slowly back and force, up and down - its like a kind of hypnotic dance. Watch the water, think about your last holiday (if you had no holiday, think about your bathtub), sitback and relax.

If you also want to have your two fishes with you outside of the 70cm range of the USB-cable, simply add a few batteries. Now you can see them also in bed, bathroom - wherever you want.

Its a perfect gift, which can be branded in many ways as promotional or premium..
